DHANYA

NIPPY SA

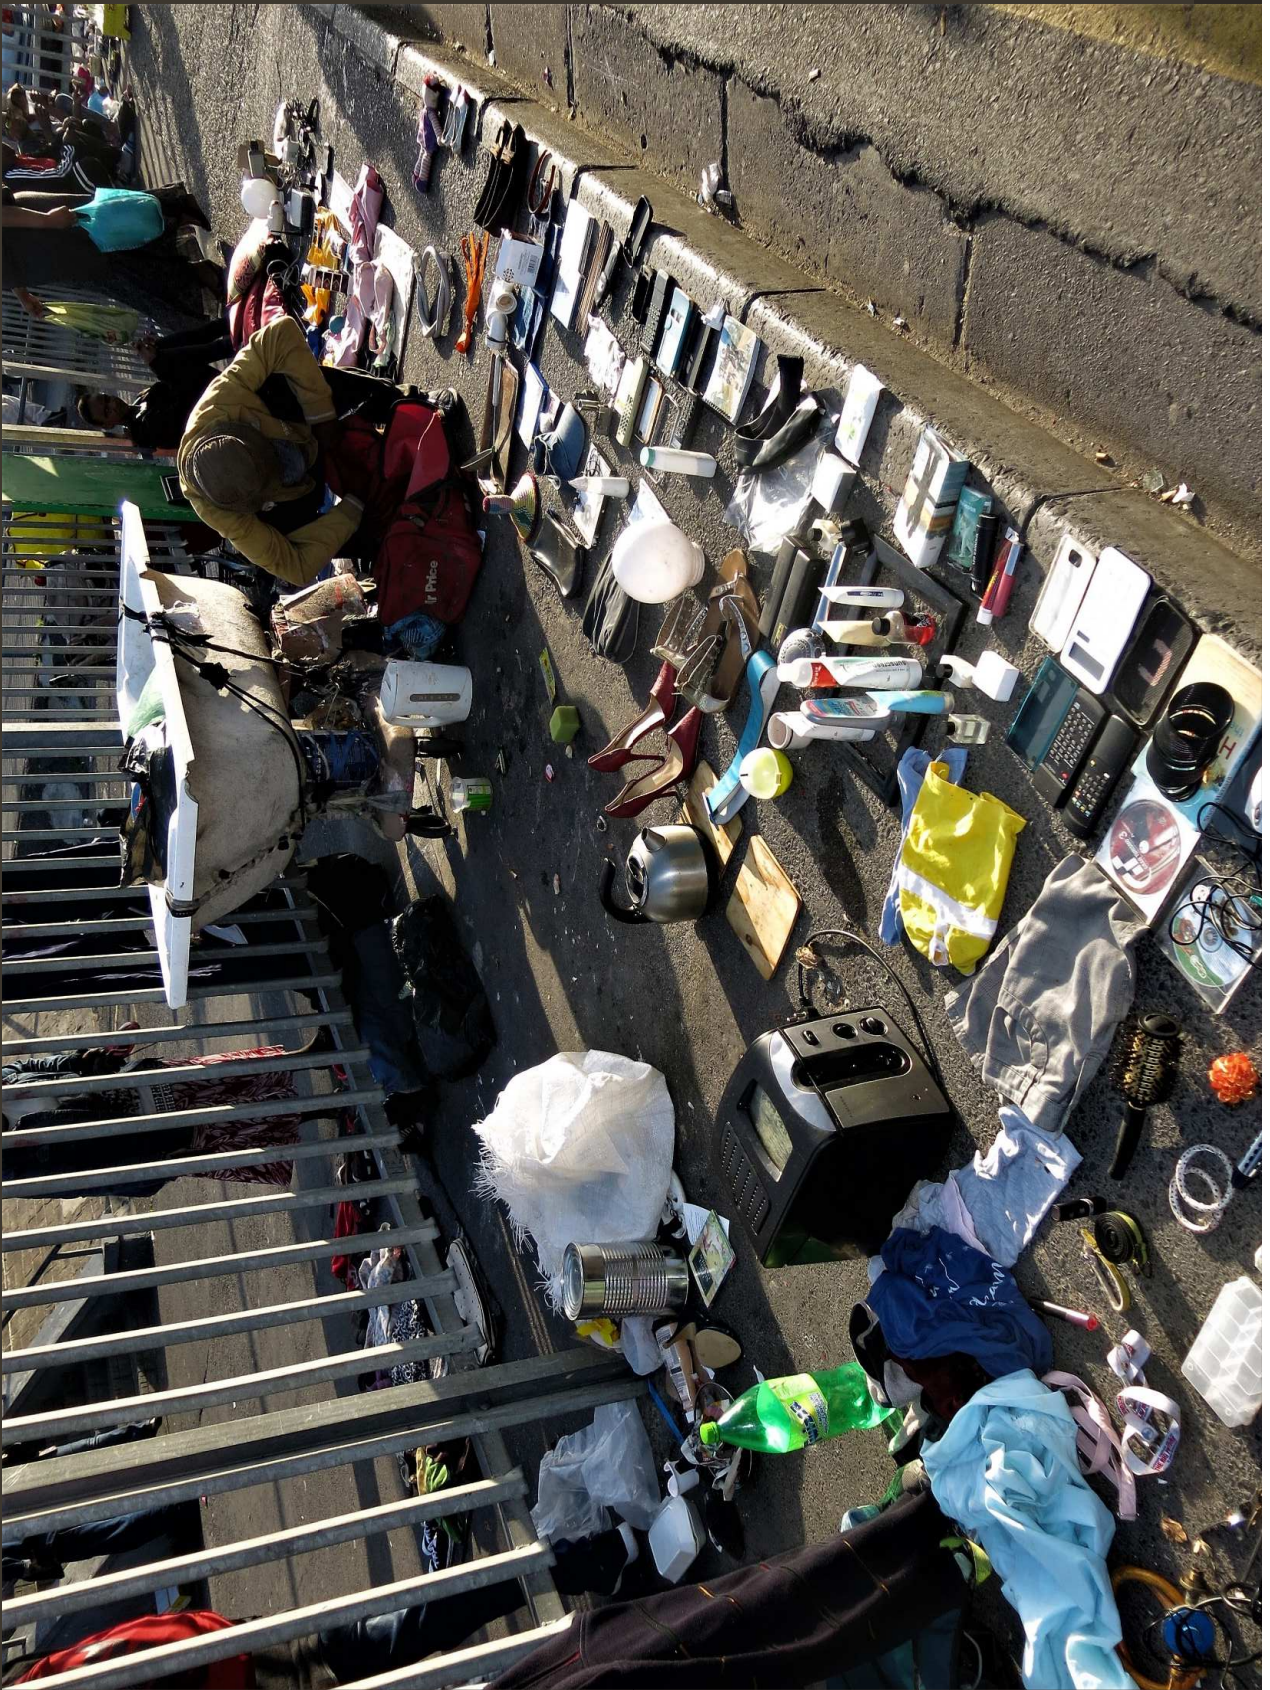

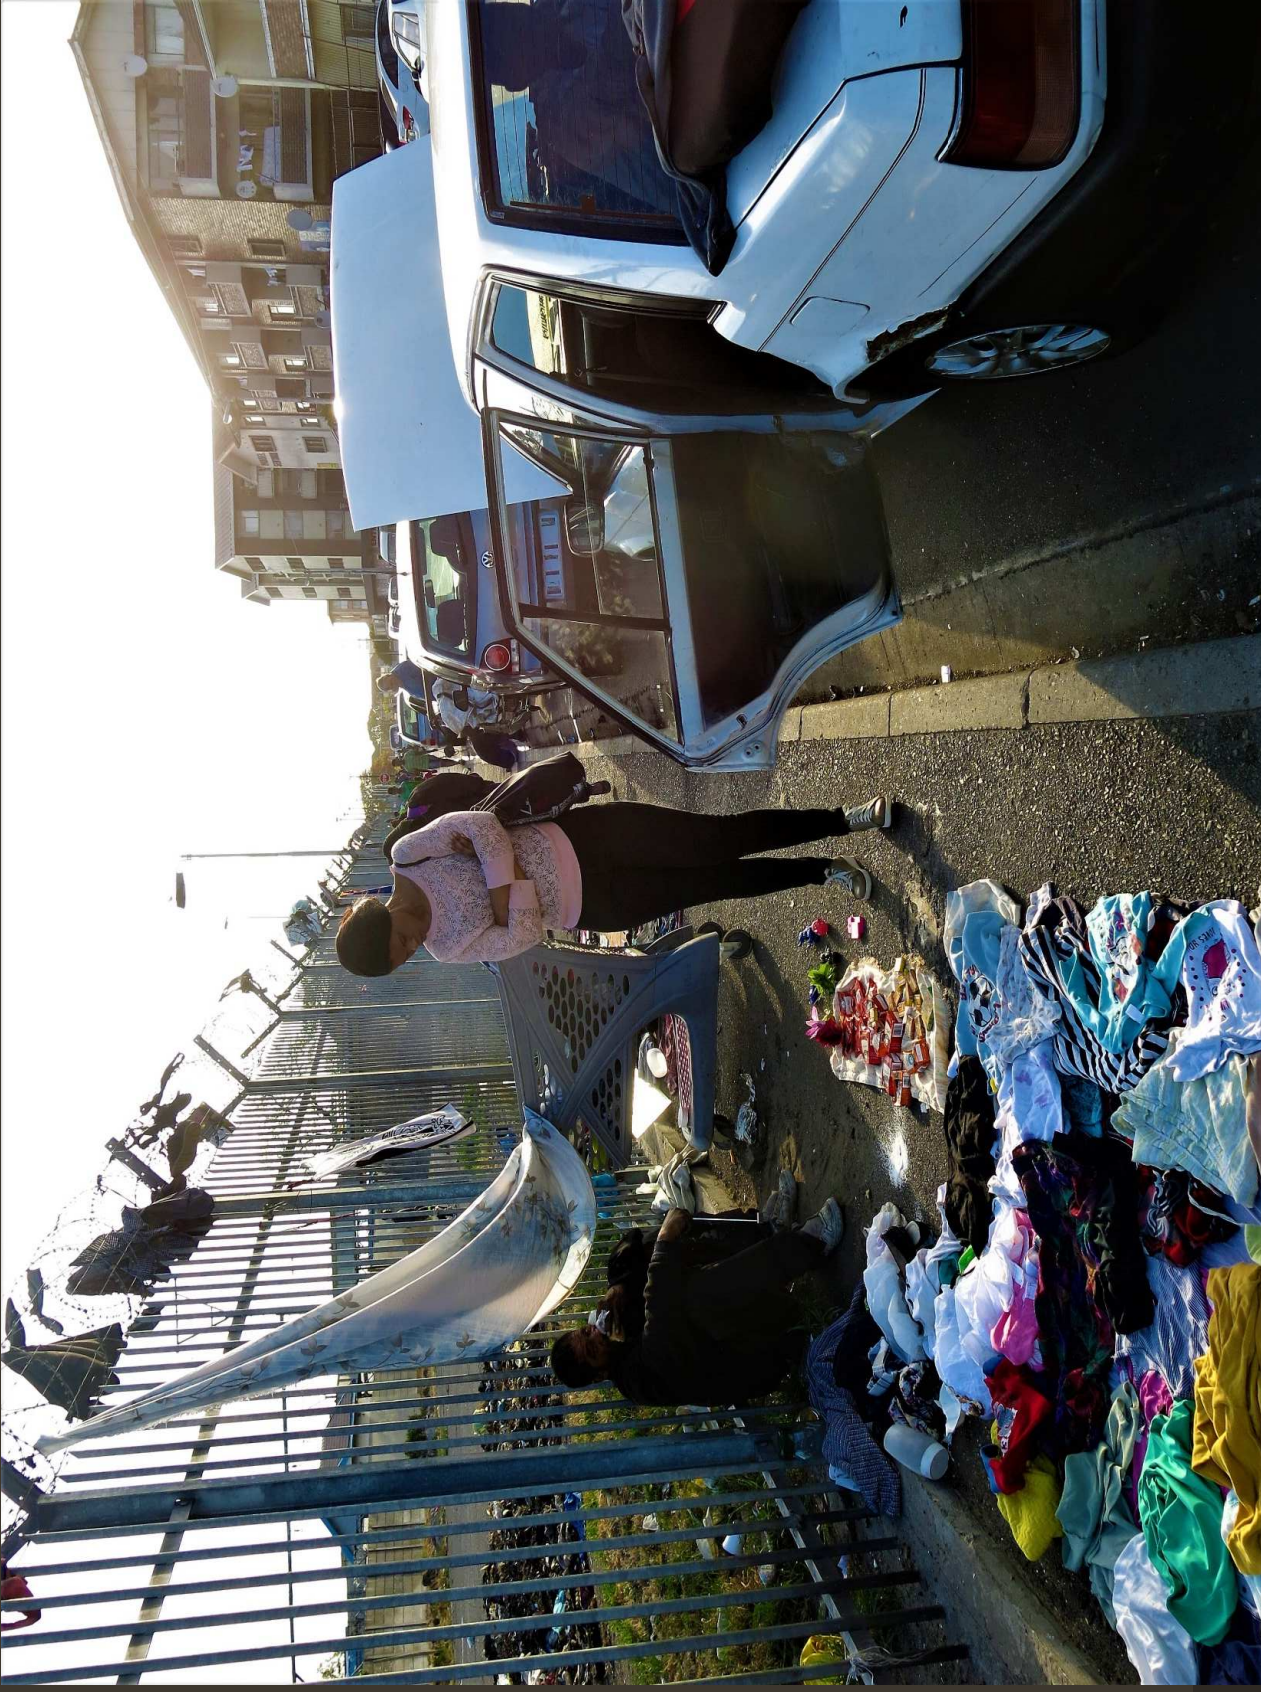

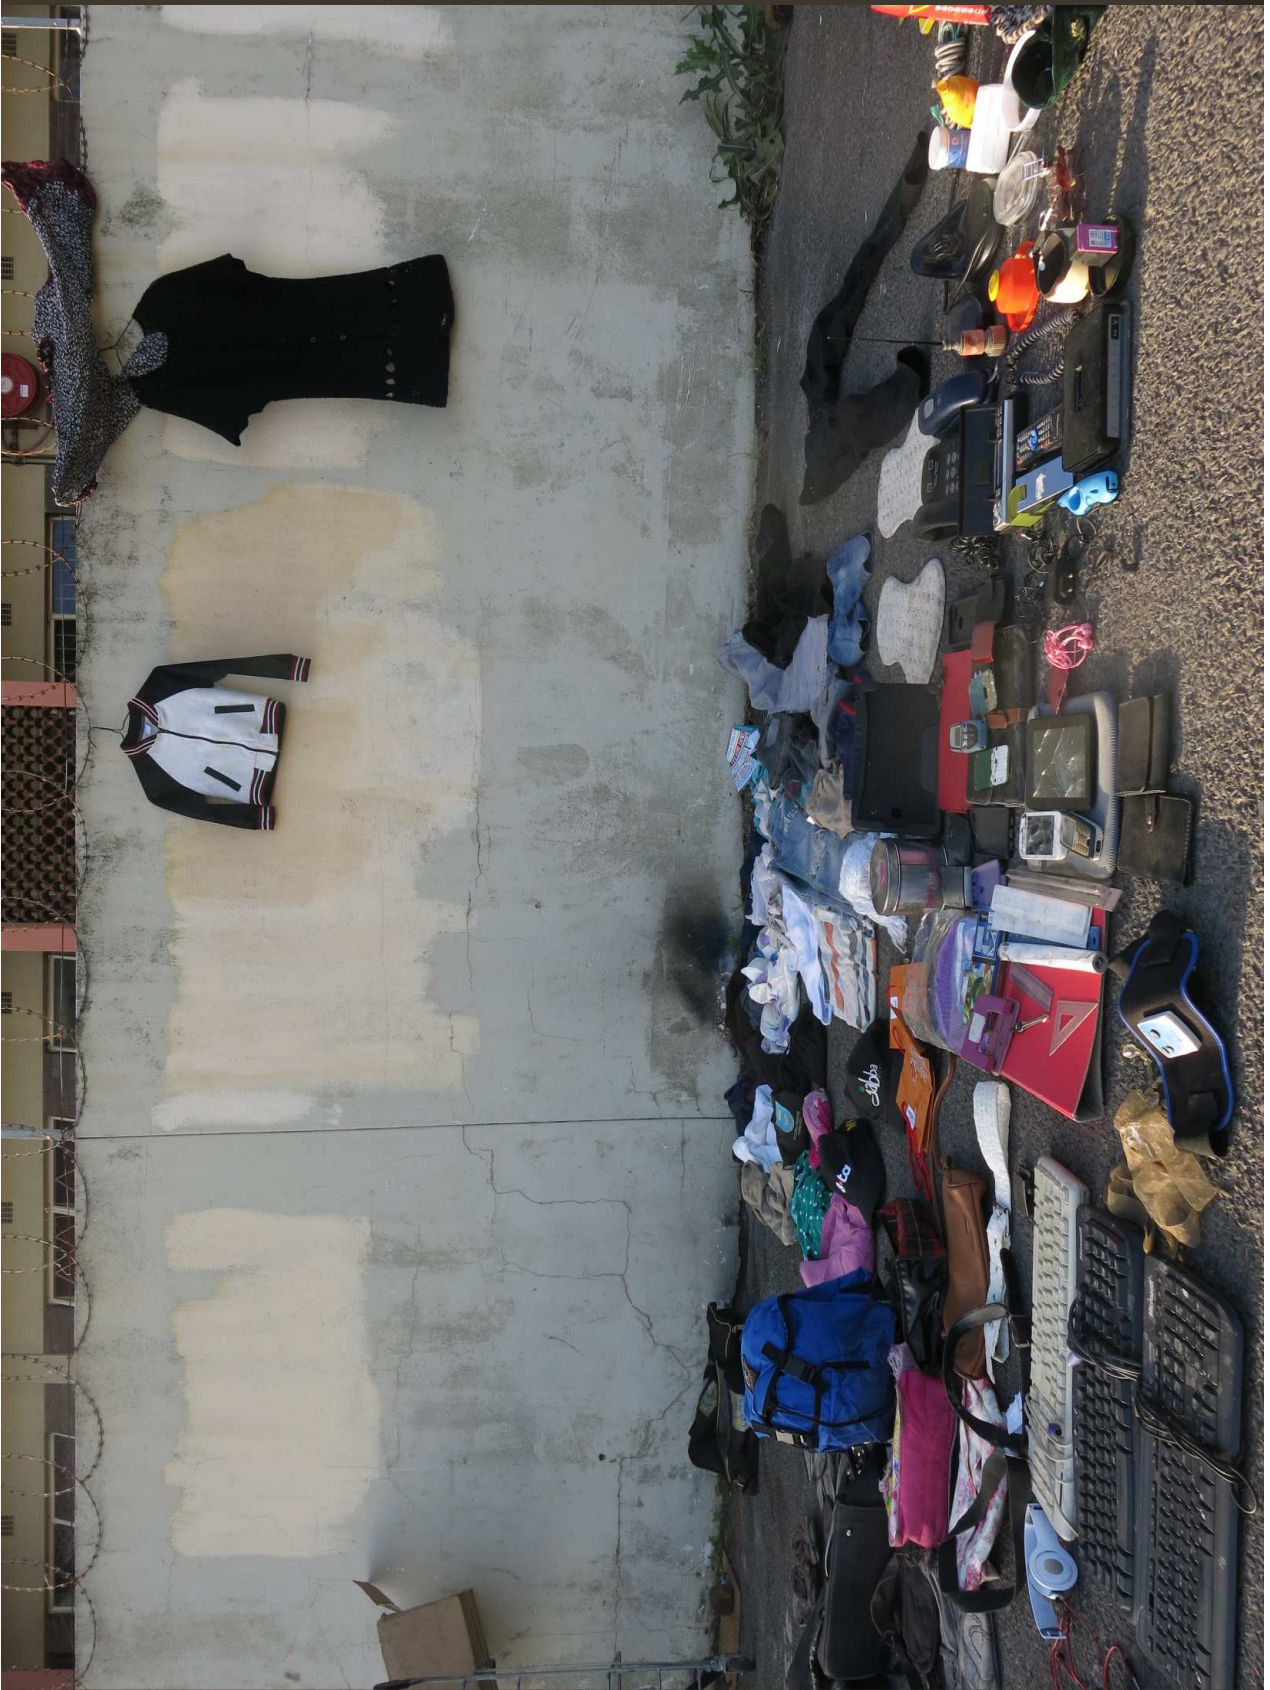

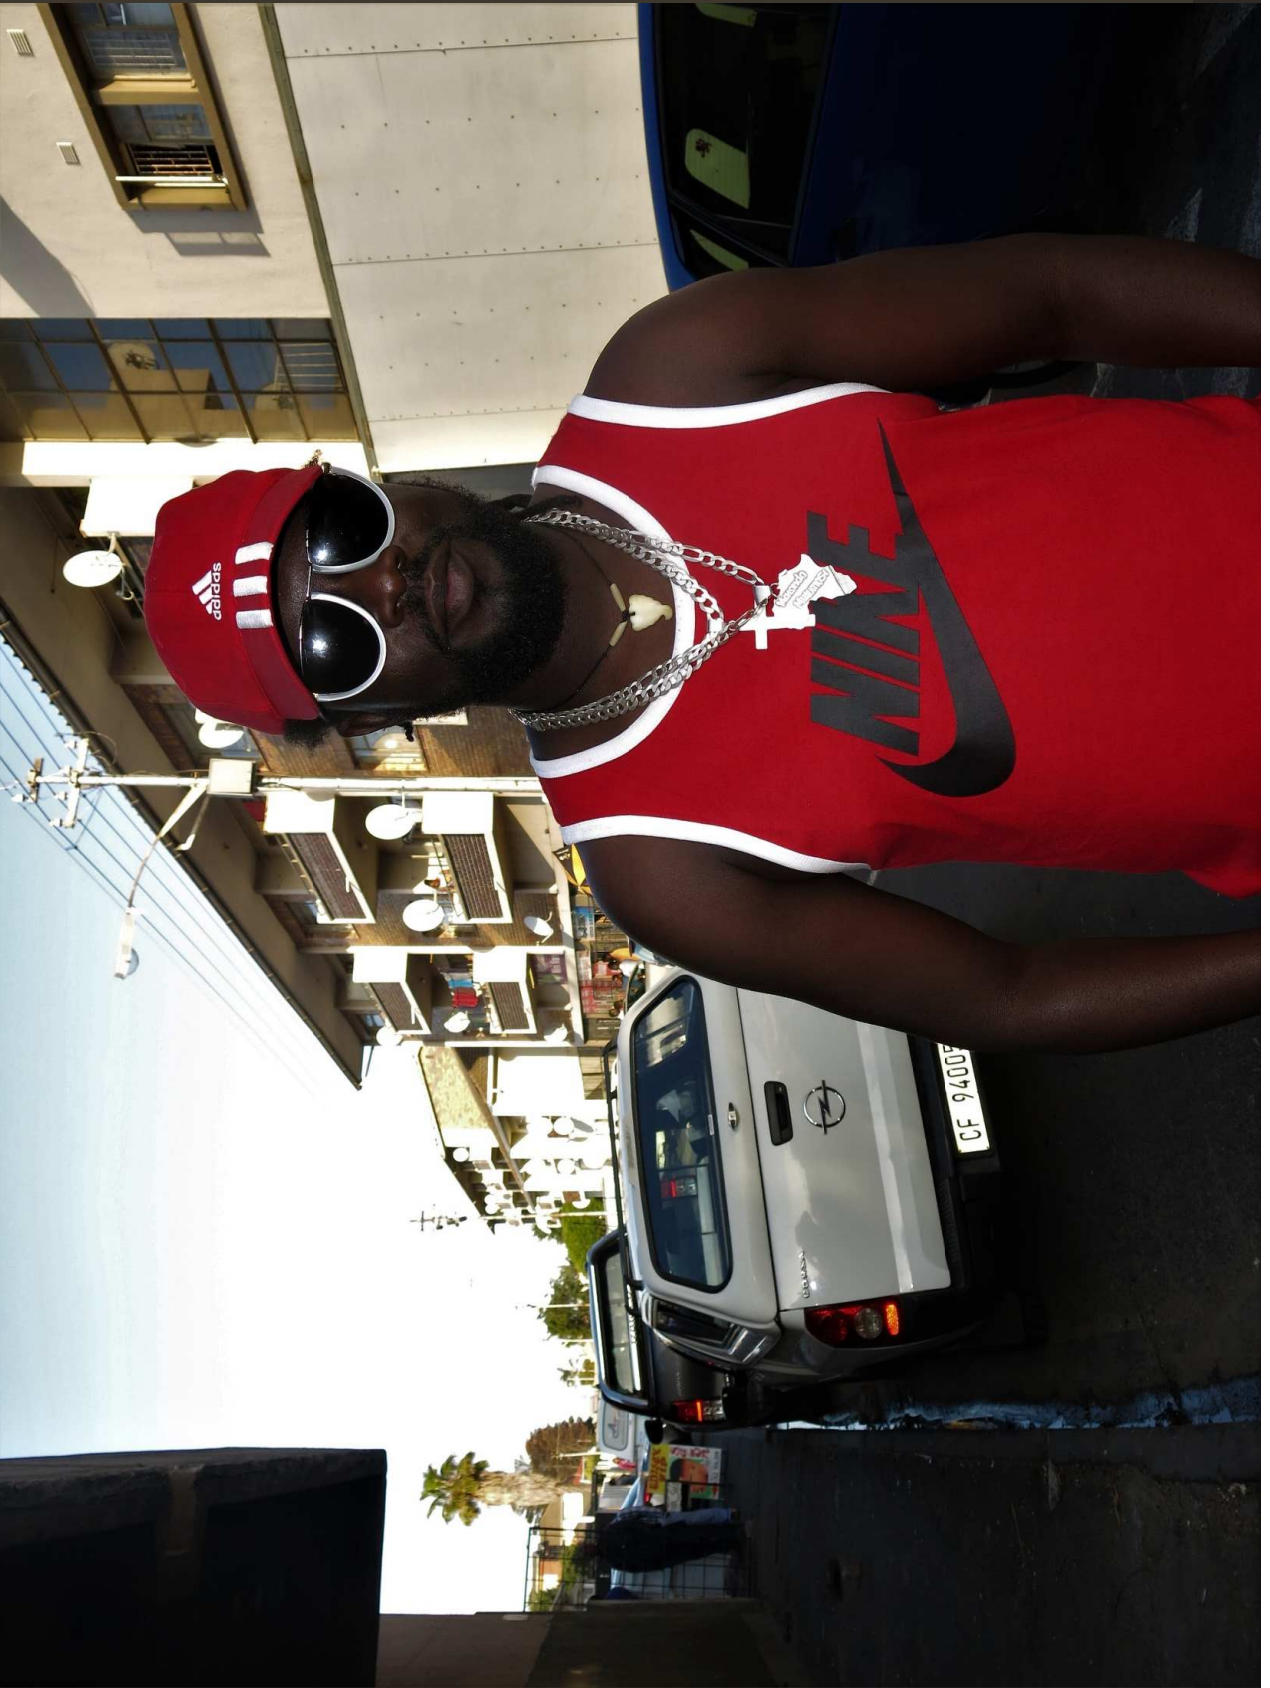

Vir ongereelde mense, motors, diere en afval het ek uitgekyk, dit wat uit die gebaande weë oorgespoel het in gange, slote en sones wat vir spesifieke doeleindes gereserveer was. My laaste hoofpyn voor ek siek geword het, was die middestadsverloedering. Woekerende informele handel op sypaadjies in die sentrale besigheidsdistrik, wat netjiese straathoeke in markplekke verander het: hoenders in fuike, snuffelende honde, twyfelagtige substansies, liggaamsreuke, wilde tale. Mense kan selfs te voet later nie daar met 'n doelgerigte pas beweeg nie. Moetie, skaapkoppe, hoenderpote, 'n gekibbel wat nie in 'n beskaafde stad gedoog kan word nie.

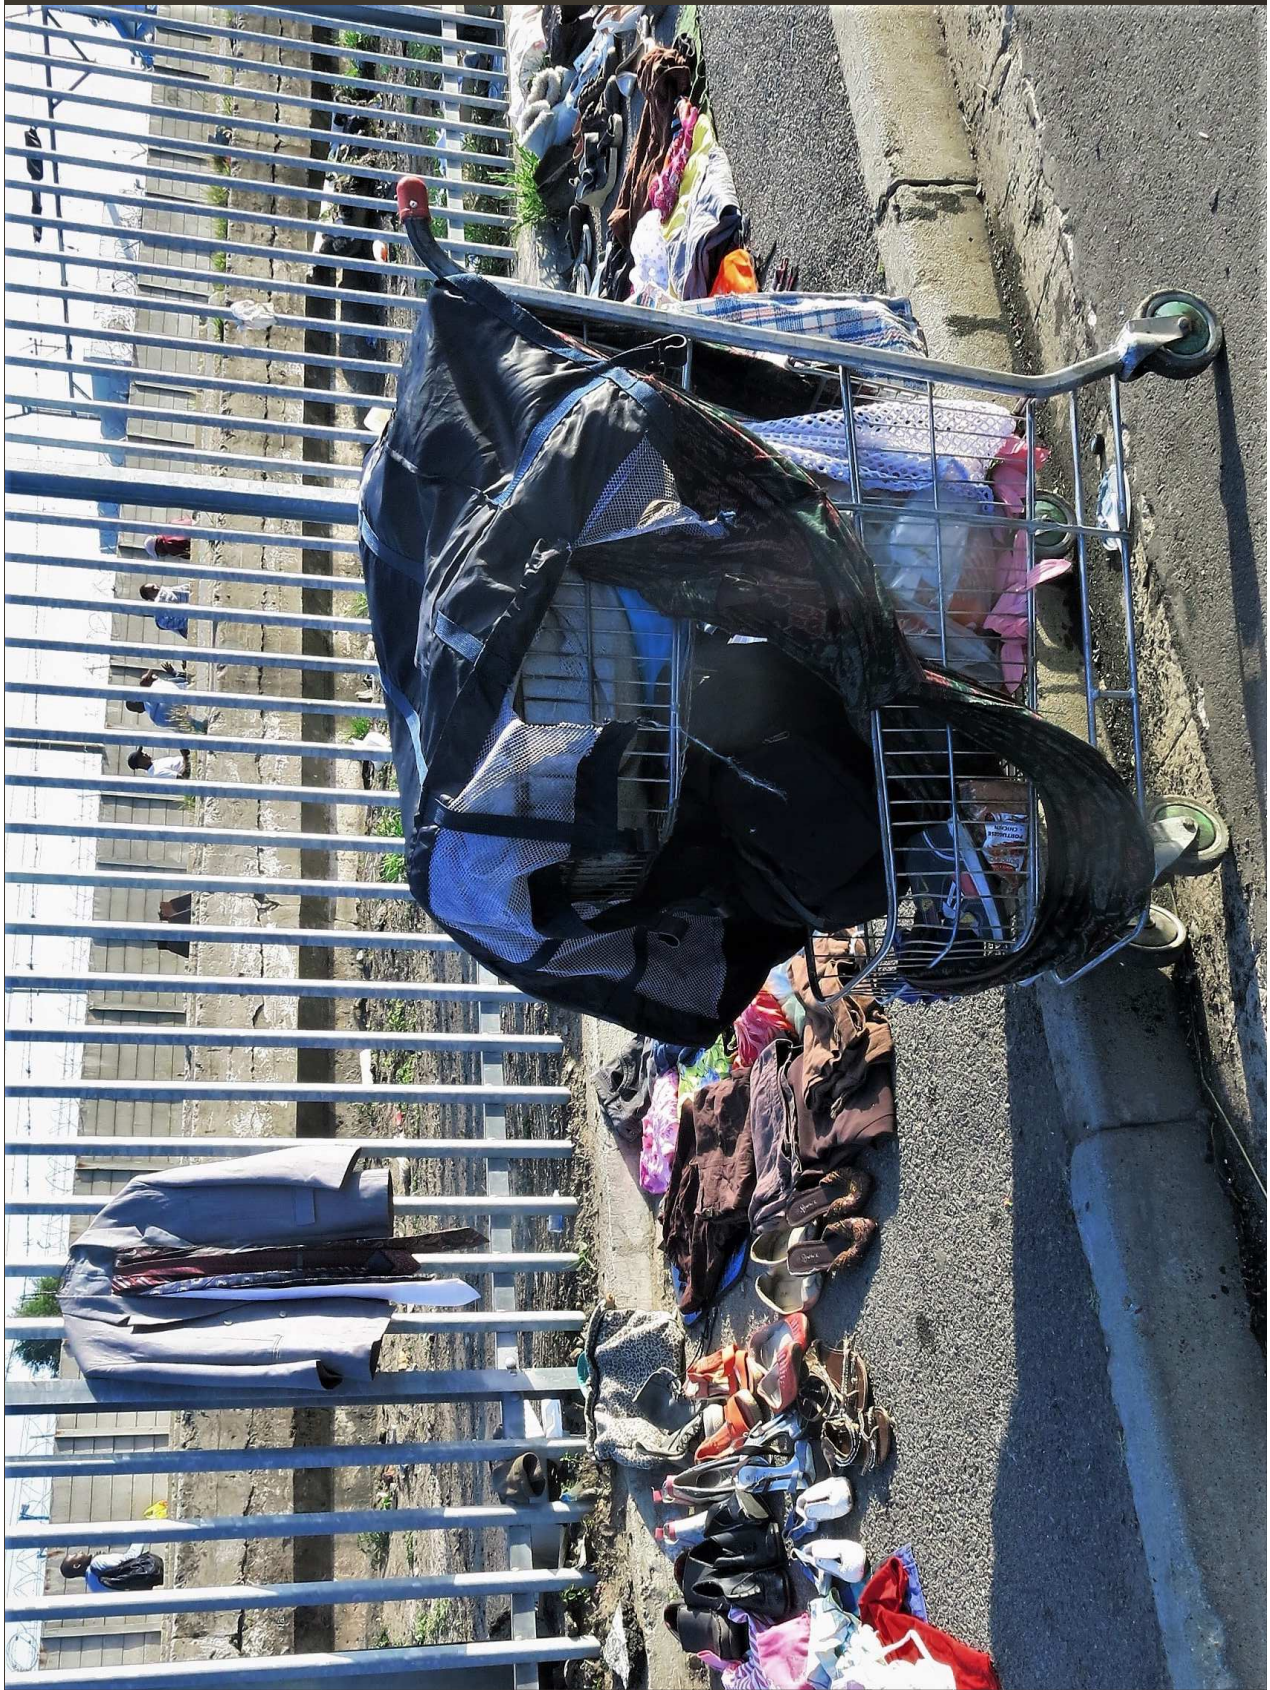

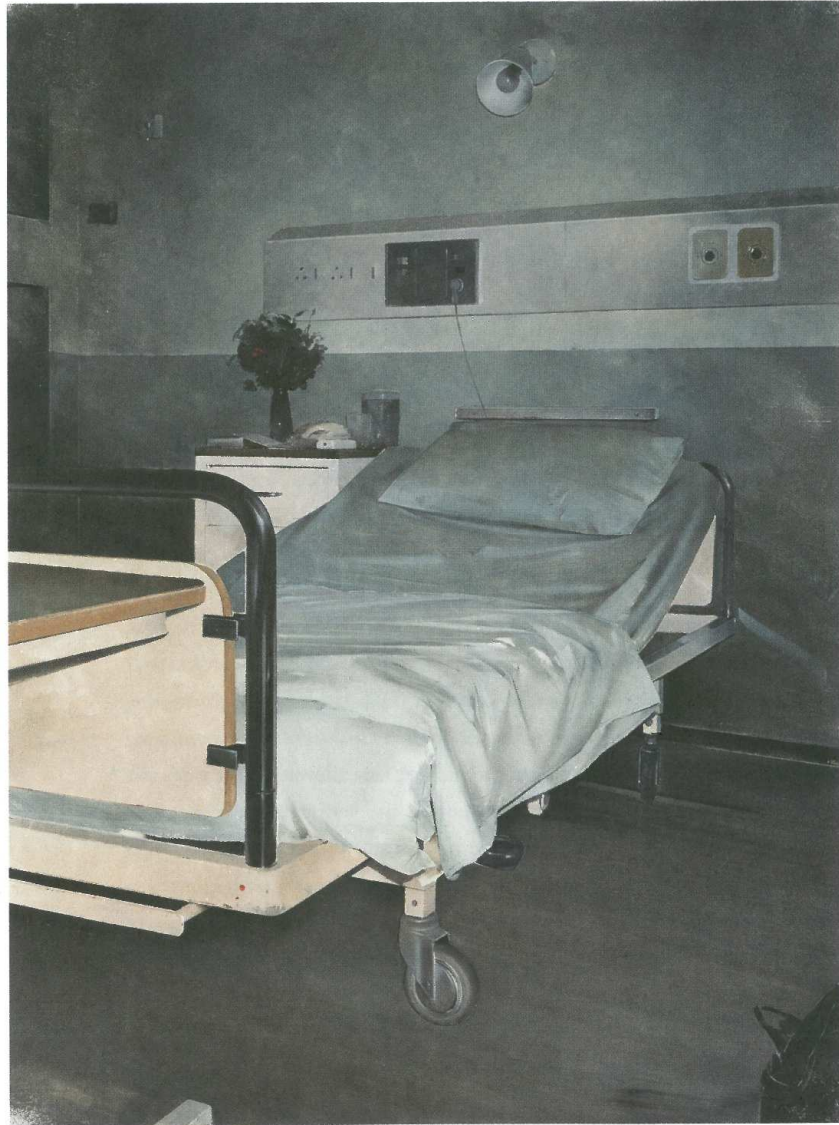

The narrative ecologies [...] are attempts to set aside mastery, domination, and possession in favor of an ecological ethic of tending, advocating curiosity and care. For when narrative enters a static encyclopedic system, a living, evolving textual ecology unfolds.
